Hmmmm...
Coral manages to have at least three animus offspring out of about thirty kids? That would make about 10% chance of her offspring being animus. And I'm pretty sure she said that there hadn't been a SeaWing animus for a long time, or something (correct me if I'm wrong). Shouldn't 10% of royal SeaWingsbe animus, then?
Also, about the Animus powers disappearing from the IceWing tribe, that is pretty impossible. Diamond had a niece, so the gene would have lived on through Snowfox. It couldn't just die out like that.
Either something very fishy happened or genetics was forgotten.

Yeah I know the IceWing animus thing makes absolutely NO sense! I've never understood that!

Also I'm guessing you haven't read Talons of Power?

Oh also I believe Gill and Coral had way more than thirty-three kids. A billion of their daughters died, remember?

Wait, which three? Turtle, Annome, and who? I've completely forgotten. And anyone who's read ToP, I know. I've read it, well, some of it.

Oh actually Coral has thirty-five living dragonets. Now this theory will have a lot of guesswork. Let's count Orca and make it thirty-six. Now let's say there were twenty-four SeaWing princesses who died. Just a guess, I don't actually have any evidence that there were twenty. But now that makes it sixty kids. Now ToP spoilers:

So that means that it is way more than every ten royal SeaWings. Half that, actually.

Also the IceWing thing continues to confuse me. Will Tui ever clear that up or what?
